SUMMARY

A military barracks and storage area is located 5.7 kilometers (km) northwest of Mogilev (53-53N 030-20E) and immediately south of the village of Pashkovo (Figure 1). An all-weather road provides access to the Minsk-Mogilev highway. Other military installations are located in Mogilev.

The installation (Figures 2 and 3) covers approximately 445 acres and contains five administration buildings, six barracks, 19 support buildings, five dependent quarters, 21 storage buildings, three vehicle sheds, four ammunition storage buildings, a small arms firing range, a wheeled-vehicle driver training course, and an area of ground scarring.

The area was covered by five KEYHOLE missions between [REDACTED]. Comparative analysis reveals a consistent level of moderate summer activity with reduced activity in the winter months. No significant changes were observed in the facilities.
